- In a statement, Health director-general Tan Sri Dr Noor Hisham said the AY.4.2, which is also known as the Delta Plus variant, was detected from two Malaysian students who returned from the United Kingdom (UK) on Oct 2.
- Dr Noor Hisham said the vaccines currently used were still effective against AY.4.2 variant and measures such as quarantine and testing could help to reduce the risk of transmission of this variant in Malaysia, particularly at international entry points.

- 3,762 Variant of Concern were detected as at 6th November, out of which 94% or 3,522 consisted of Delta.
